The guide coat is misted onto the surface leaving a spotty looking finish.

After the guide coat dries you can take a long block sander and sand the panel in an “X” pattern; paying attention to how the guide coat comes off the panel.

You will notice that 99% of the guide coat from the air, shrinking and swelling with changes in humidity.

Polyurethane (or any coating) slows that absorption. So if you coat only the topside, the unfinished underside will shrink or swell at a different rate. That means a warped table. But one coat on the underside will stabilize the tabletop.
